Course Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of the course, the student will be able to:

1. Recognize the health hazards and toxicity issues in art and apply the safety aspects in potential art mediums, studios and practice.
2. Formulate safe strategies and practices to protect one's health during the use of tools and techniques.
3. Investigate the toxicity and exposure of materials to assess the necessary use of personal protective equipment (PPE), environmental equipment (i.e. ventilation) and methods of applications needed for health and safety.
4. Research, identify, assess and classify health and safety information and practices in order to develop practical solutions for personal health and safety in studios and during art making.
