Course Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of the course, the student will be able to:

1. Explain a variety of models and theories of the problems and issues leading to substance abuse and addiction and the approaches to address the prevention, intervention and evidenced-based models to treatment and recovery, including professional workforce certification requirements for Chemical Dependency Professional Counselors.
2. Explain the nature and scope of basic drug effects and categories of psychoactive substances and compulsive behaviors on the behavioral, psychological, physical health and social effects on the person using, significant others and community.
3. Analyze culturally relevant factors that increase the likelihood for an individual, vulnerable population, community or group to be at-risk for, or resilient to, psychoactive substance use disorders and the impact upon the evolution of social drug use policy.
