COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

Prefix and Course Number: ENGL 278
Course Title: Women Writers
Version Date: 04/10/2019

Course Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of the course, the student will be able to:

1. Articulate an understanding of the diversity of individual and cultural values depicted in literature by women.
2. Identify ways in which women's literary expression has reflected—and resisted— social and historical pressures, including prevalent ideas about women's spheres of influence and about women's political rights.
3. Trace patterns of continuity and discontinuity through the history and development of literature written by women.
4. Accurately describe significant themes, conventions, and techniques of women writers across ethnic, national, class and cultural boundaries.
5. Articulate critical positions about literary works by women, using textual evidence appropriately as support.
