

HSGER 110

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

1. Listen to and observe frail and healthy seniors and the people who work and live with them.
2. Make a justifiable inference about how community resources and the quality of life can be improved for Spokane's senior citizens
3. Use a perspective that is different than our own as such inferences are determined.
4. To use what has been learned about leisure, learning and living in the life of a senior citizen by:
  - a. Demonstrating a self-assessment of your own learning preference and learning needs.
  - b. Demonstrating a mastery of a learning activity that most interests you and highlights your abilities as a presenter of information.
  - c. Demonstrating your ability to apply learning to a community setting.
