PSYC& 200

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

1. Be knowledgeable of psychological theories and concepts, and be able to apply them to their lives and lives of others.

2. Appreciate a variety of viewpoints on controversial topics, and encourage critical thinking.

3. Develop an inquisitive and curious attitude towards psychology.

4. Recognize the complexity of the behavior of individuals; be aware that behavior can be traced to heredity, environment, and their interaction.

5. Appreciate that behavior changes throughout the lifespan.

6. Acknowledge, and respect the diversity of various cultural groups within and outside the U.S.

7. Be aware of a wide variety of resources of psychological information, and strive to be up-to-date.

8. Be aware of various psychological problems and the means by which to overcome them.

COURSE OUTLINE

COMING SOON!